Michael's discussion with GLEB DONTSOV

GLEB DONTSOV was born in Omsk, Russia 1972. Graduated from The Moscow State Tchaikovsky Conservatory of Music in Vocal in 1992, from Moscow Conservatory, he obtained a masters degree for voice performing in 2001 at Moscow Conservatory. He has performed in many orchestras, including The Orchestra of Moscow State Irkutskiy Conservatory of Music and the Moscow Chamber Orchestra, as First Violin. He has been a remarkable First Violin for the Shenzhen Orchestra from 1995 to 2005, while being the First Violin for the Orchestra of Moscow.

Q: My father has been a big fan of you since 1988, the year you came to Shenzhen and became the first violin of Shenzhen orchestra.
A: On nearly the same time.

Q: He still remembers when you first arrived, the hot climate was so overwhelming that you shed your head bald. You colleagues were really shocked. A: That's true haha... You fellow is only a visit for 10 days, but I have already left Shenzhen orchestra for a long time.

Q: So why did you come to Shenzhen now?
A: Actually it was by an accident. Someone offered me a spot in the Shenzhen orchestra when I was desperately looking for a job. At that time Russia was very poor, suffering from economic problems. I was glad to see my salary becoming more than at 200 US$ in the Russian orchestra for 80000RMB. My violin orchestra was obviously delightful for a while, however.

Q: When you first came to Shenzhen, did you notice any difference between the musical atmosphere here and that in Moscow?
A: Well, Shenzhen was still a commercial city at that time, the artistic atmosphere is still very thin. Later starts always send to show development.

Q: Do you have any advice for the 30,000 violin students in Shenzhen?
A: My biggest advice, which is also one of my biggest ambition, is to have everyone playing the violin while hearing emotions and dreams in their minds. My violin journey had a tough beginning. It was after five years of hard working until I began to like the violin. You really need a sort of luck to meet the talent scout at the right time, right place, to bring you to a brand new world of music.

Q: There are a lot of talented and hard working violin students in Shenzhen. However only few of them can manage to go back to return to the place where my dream began. So how I can, back to Moscow?
A: First of all, I would like to point out that China has produced plenty of talented musicians. The only thing is that most of them were afraid to do further studies abroad the age of 22 in famous musical school. The main problem here is that the music education in China began later than western countries and is still developing—the lack of top experienced musicians and the shortage of true appreciation of classical music have resulted in the rudimentary of Chinese musical education. I blame this on the poor cultural education.
